ANU | Graduate Coursework

VO: I'm studying a Masters degree in the economics of agriculture and I was surprised by how much I love it.

My lecturers include leaders in water management research and these are the people I really want to work with.

Balancing work and home-life with study can be challenging, but I want to be challenged. ANU has the reputation that can open doors for me and my career.

When I finish my exams, I'll be ready to contribute the nation and change the world.
