Raise the alarm! Siren is here

Abode The Apartment Hotel is excited to announce that Siren Bar & Restaurant has opened to much fanfare on the ground floor of the hotel. The eagerly anticipated, stylish new venue was an instant hit with locals and tourists alike. Fast gaining a reputation as the place to go for live music, great food, an extensive drinks menu and a hot social scene, Siren is the ultimate “night in” for guests of Abode. Whether it’s a chilled Sunday afternoon on Siren’s huge north-facing deck, or a big Saturday night, you’ll quickly become hooked on Siren Bar & Restaurant.

Infinite Horizons at the NGA

Staying at Abode also puts you within easy reach of the National Gallery of Australia’s retrospective of Fred Williams landscapes, Infinite Horizons. The collection displays over one hundred of Williams’ paintings including many of his landscapes of the breathtaking Victorian countryside, the Murray River, the Pilbara in Western Australia and more. Considered one of Australia's greatest and most innovative landscape artists of the 20th century, this exhibition is a must see for art lovers. Currently on show, the exhibition is only open until 6 November 2011 so book your accommodation now.

Relax at Abode and enjoy the Renaissance

Following Fred Williams at the National Gallery of Australia is the hotly anticipated Renaissance exhibition. This presentation of European masterpieces from artists such as Raphael, Botticelli, Titian and Bellini is a unique exhibition, the likes of which not seen before in Australia. More than 70 works on canvas and panel made in Italy between 1400 and 1600 will be on display until 9 April 2012. The exhibition is not travelling beyond Canberra, so book your accommodation now at Abode to ensure you have a great stay when you come and see this remarkable, once in a life time exhibition.

Service you deserve

Abode The Apartment Hotel is also pleased to announce an increase in its reception hours. Not satisfied with simply offering great value Canberra accommodation, we decided to up the ante and improve our reception service to ensure your visit is as simple and relaxed as possible. Book your stay now and you’ll find Abode surprisingly sophisticated.
